Rose and Crown, Bradford Abbas

Having taken on the Rose & Crown and opening on Friday the 13th August, we have been delighted by the response and thankful to all of our customers both old and new to the pub. We aim to provide good value food, beer and service in what is a really lovely village pub. We have a few ideas to improve the place over the coming weeks and months so hopefully you will continue to support us and see with us as these things materialise. It will be good to work with the village including the Parish Council, the Social Club, the Church, Mill Farm, local market and you the community in general.

If you would like to contact us for any requirements, please call us on 01935 474506 or email us at roseandcrownba@yahoo.com

With our best wishes,

Mark, Karen and all the staff here at the R&C

St Mary's Week 2021

Our Church That Rocks event in July was such a success that we tried to stage a similar event in September. Unfortunately, there were too many problems for us to overcome in a short time. Instead, we are now switching our attention to December. Early in the month (date TBC) we intend to hold a musical Christmas event in the Church (similar to the one in 2019). If you would like to perform a song or two that night, please get in touch. On Christmas Eve, we are planning an outdoor carol service in front of the Church, like the hugely successful event in 2020.

If you can help or would like to perform, please contact us.

Bradford Abbas Gardeners' Club

We will be holding an extraordinary general meeting on Wednesday 8th September at 2.30pm in the village hall. This is because the committee has come to the conclusion that the club is no longer viable with so few members. It is hoped all current members will be able to attend this meeting.

St.Mary's Church, Bradford Abbas

Café in the church

The café area in your church has been open every day since the beginning of the school summer holidays. Why not arrange to meet a friend for a chat or use it as a rest stop in your walk. Help yourself to tea or coffee.

Saturday mornings have proved very popular. We have young people from the village who are volunteering to do waiter/waitress service – and they often bring cake!

A Message from our Rector.....

Water

I well remember at school in September looking out at the glorious sunshine we never had in August and wishing I was still on holiday. In Dorset we are rarely short of water, we take it for granted and during the summer often have too much of it!

Water is of course vital to life and we very quickly feel ill if we can't get it and know we won't live long without it. It is absolutely essential to our lives. The ancient Jewish people were also acutely aware of this and they also knew all about the torment caused by being deprived of it in the desert. To die of thirst in the blazing sun of an arid desert is one of the most unpleasant deaths imaginable.

It is not surprising then that this very unpleasant imagery began to colour the Jewish ideas of Hell. In fact, the Old Testament imagery of Hell is often more of thirst without relief in a hot arid environment rather than the later mediaeval description of a fiery furnace. Even the parables of Jesus in the New Testament sometimes build on the idea of unquenchable thirst.

I find the idea of a raging thirst without relief a much better description of Hell than the one we have today because, far from Hell being a place where bad people are put, it becomes a state of being where the unquenchable thirst is the need for God which is forever unsatisfied because our own desires and wants get in the way. Indeed, as a counterpoint to the unquenchable thirst, the descriptions in the Bible of God's interaction with us is often characterised by terms like 'living streams' of water. You can almost feel the relief this represents.

It seems to me that all too many people today recognise that they have a thirst and need for God but for some reason they continually forbid themselves the opportunity to quench it and far too many of them suffer a tormented thirst as a consequence.

Tony Gilbert, Team Rector
